IN		No	Betsy Burdick, Deputy Chief of Staff for the Governor's Office Ryan Kitchell, Director of the State Budget Agency Cris Johnston, Executive Director of Government Efficiency & Financial Planning	Yes
MA	I don't think its a full time position, but based on his background, I'm sure he will put a lot of time into these projects and ensuring that the federal stimulus dollars are accounted for and the process is transparent to the general public.	No	Massachusetts Federal Stimulus Accountability Committee, Governor's Office Executive Office for Administration and Finance Director of Infrastructure Investment State Auditor's Office Inspector General's Office Office of the State Comptroller Operational Services Division	Yes
MN		Yes	Commissioners of DHS, Education, Public Safety, Economic Development, Finance, MnDOT, Administration and Commerce plus the Governor's Office	Yes
NH	This is a full time effort. Other State employees are also temporarily assigned to the Office of Economic Stimulus	Yes	The Office of Economic Stimulus is still in the process of developing team. Currently we have a compliance officer/financial analyst, an administrative assistant, and a volunteer. We are planning to add a temporary resource to do a Risk Assessment and Risk Management Plan. We are also planning to add three compliance officers who will work with individual departments and sub-grantees to promote compliance with ARRA and general federal requirements. The Office is advertising for a VISTA volunteer to assist with overall efforts. The Office is partnering with our State University system to provide public, business, and public official education on ARRA.	Yes
OK
SC
SD	Certainly not full time to the stimulus, but a full time state employee.	No	Do not know for sure, but most of the stimulus information is being handled through the Bureau of Finance and Management, Bureau of Administration (State Engineer), Bureau of Information and Telecommunications, and the Department of Transportation.	Not at this time
TX

State:	Additional Comments:	5. Is this person referred to as a "stimulus czar"?	6. What persons/positions are included on the stimulus team referenced above?	7. Is state central procurement on or in any way involved in the stimulus team? Please elaborate.
WA				Not at this time
WI		No	Staff in the office are on temporary assignments from state agencies. No new state staff have been added for the office. There are a number of contract audit/accounting staff who will be brought in to track and report on funding coming to the state.	Not at this time

State:	8. Other (please specify)	9. Is state central procurement being consulted on the use and spend of the stimulus money? Please elaborate below.	10. What steps and/or measures has your office taken to prepare for the receipt and use of the stimulus money?	11. Please identify specific questions or areas of concern surrounding the current Act and OMB guidelines for the receipt and use of the stimulus money. (E.G.--FAR regulations and their applicability to items procured by the states).
AK	Still in formation, expected to be in advisory role.	Yes. So far, answering questions and/or attempting to find answers regarding the restrictions on use and qualification of projects.	Research and reaching out to peers to find answers to policy maker questions.	What, if any "transparency" procurement measures will be required, in addition to the usual state procurement processes, as well as additional auditing and reporting requirements.
AR	Worked on legislation to compress existing review/processing timelines. Anticipating areas where we can create new contracts quickly that will be needed. Marketing existing contracts. Creating directions to the agencies on new/temporary procedures for ARRA monies.	Each State Agency will be given directions how to spend the money, but we were not consulted about how to allocate the monies.	Directions to easily identify ARRA requests coming through this office. Identified process timelines that needed to be compressed. Worked with legal on temporary legislation to address existing barriers.	Concerned about the small window to spend the money. Staffing to meeting the needs temporarily.
CA		Yes, we have received several inquiries and are receiving direction from department leadership.	The Department of General Services, Procurement Division, is working to identify the specific agencies in California that will receive stimulus funds and plans to support them in any related purchasing activities.	Other than the example, none at this time.
CT		No - just contracting protocols	None in Procurement.	None from me.
DC		Yes, we have put together a Stimulus Contracting Team, similar to what we did for the presidential inauguration, who's purpose is to be ahead of agency needs, anticipating, interviewing, pulling information as early as possible out of agencies so that we can take contract actions in a timely fashion. Most importantly are the long lead time capital contracts, which we will probably spend about a third of our funds on.	Activated the OCP Stimulus Contracting Team. This team will support agencies as they finalize contract needs related to the stimulus funds. This team is under the leadership of Lolisa Simms, being assisted by Courtney Lattimore. OCP team first needs single point-of-contact for stimulus spending matters from agencies, and a simple list of what contracting needs they expect to have from the stimulus funds. Preliminary list to be completed by Tuesday, March 3rd.	Our most significant concern is the rapidity with which these funds need to be obligated. That tempts us to abbreviate or circumvent the need for full and open competition. My goal in this effort is to find the right balance between competition and speed.
DE		Not at this time.		Lack of guidance at this time.
FL	Our eProcurement team may be involved for reporting functions.	No	Nothing	None. State Purchasing in FL only creates term contracts for use by others.
GA		I have not yet participated in the team meeting
ID		No. The state central procurement is responsible for oversight spending for products and services. Most of the stimulus dollars will be aimed at infrastructure improvement i.e. roads, highways, bridges, etc....over which, State Purchasing does not have responsibility.	None.	None.

State:	8. Other (please specify)	9. Is state central procurement being consulted on the use and spend of the stimulus money? Please elaborate below.	10. What steps and/or measures has your office taken to prepare for the receipt and use of the stimulus money?	11. Please identify specific questions or areas of concern surrounding the current Act and OMB guidelines for the receipt and use of the stimulus money. (E.G.--FAR regulations and their applicability to items procured by the states).
IN	The IDOA Commissioner is involved with the stimulus team, which indirectly involves IDOA procurement.	Yes. The Indiana Department of Administration, Procurement division has identified way to accelerate procurement processes. The processes will not be modified, just expedited.	IDOA Procurement has identified a dedicated resource team, developed a data collection form (for State agencies to complete) and committed to accelerated timelines in partnership with the impacted state agencies.	IDOA Procurement is attempting to working within the established guidelines.
MA	Yes, see list of departments represented on the team above.	At this point in time it's hard to say, we believe that most of the projects selected to receive stimulus money will be construction related. At OSD we only handle goods and services. Construction falls under the Department of Capital Asset Management (DCAM).	None at this time.
MN	Commissioner of Administration on stimulus subcabinet CPO is Administration's stimulus coordinator	Yes, primarily with respect for appropriate methods to expedite contracts	Worked closely with MndOT to revise master contract process and enhance technology to expedite electronic signatures	Concerns that good intentions to avoid waste, fraud and mismanagement cannot be met when spending this much money this fast Concerns that contracting process will become scapegoat for agencies that do not have their own acts together
NH	New Hampshire has limited central procurement. The Department of Administrative Services, who does central procurement is a significant partner with OES in planning and coordinating ARRA implementation.	Yes, as to planning for accounting and management of funds. Case by case, as to particular types of procurements.	OES has met with all departments managing stimulus funds and most major stakeholders. Guidance is being issued to establish uniform approaches to managing stimulus accounting and reporting. We have established a password restricted access blog type on-line communication tool for all departments implementing ARRA.
OK SC		Not yet but we have offered our assistance	Adjusting work load assignment, categorizing requests	None, anticipate FAR to be modified
SD	The procurement office has not been contacted regarding stimulus plans for South Dakota.	No.	My office has taken no steps. This has been done in the Bureau of Finance and Management.	Unknown.
TX		Not currently. The agencies that will receive the stimulus funds are being consulted. Some of these agencies have contacting central procurement, but only piecemeal.	We are increasing our computer capacities to handle the increase in online solicitations and staff to handle increases in Historically Underutilized Business certification requests. We are also making ourselves available to the program agencies that will receive the funds to help them navigate the procurement processes.	The main concern is ensuring the state contracts have the required transparency and oversight to ensure the state meets the federal requirements and passes audit.

State:	8. Other (please specify)	9. Is state central procurement being consulted on the use and spend of the stimulus money? Please elaborate below.	10. What steps and/or measures has your office taken to prepare for the receipt and use of the stimulus money?	11. Please identify specific questions or areas of concern surrounding the current Act and OMB guidelines for the receipt and use of the stimulus money. (E.G.--FAR regulations and their applicability to items procured by the states).
WA		Nothing to date. However, we have been providing information regarding what central procurement, through our affiliation with NASPO, is doing to see guidance and leadership.	Nothing in the central procurement office, beyond working with NASPO to understand impacts to our state and trying to get guidance as available.	Tracking, procurement rules (i.e. WA is not eligible to utilize federal contracts, as they don't meet our state's procurement statutes), and WA is in the midst of an equipment freeze (agencies can't purchase equipment over $5,000 - there are some exceptions) so would WA be able to spend the stimulus money given the current freeze that is in law through June 30, 2009.
WI		No, for the most part funds appear to fall into the building and construction and highway programs which are not under the oversight of the state procurement office. We will be involved in processing grant exceptions for grant funding that may come in as a result of the stimulus money.	We have issued a solicitation for audit and accounting staff to monitor track and report on the use of the stimulus money.	We are still trying to gather the actual usage requirements as well as tracking, accounting and reporting requirements. I don't believe anyone here has a clear picture of those requirements as yet.
