3. Percentage Discounts

LexisNexis offers a 15% discount on any new print publication purchases to those states participating in a NASPO-sponsored online research subscription with LexisNexis. Some exclusion's may apply. All the print discounts apply to new purchases only and not to renewals, updates or existing subscriptions. You may browse LexisNexis publications online at <http://bookstore.lexis.com/bookstore/catalog>.

4. NASPO Individual State Primary Law

This offering provides the following content for each participating state:

- Case Law
- Statutes
- Constitution
- Court Rules
- Mealey's NewsBriefs
- Full Shepard

The price is a flat per user per month fee with a minimum number of five 'eligible users' per contract. As a state joins the NASPO program, LexisNexis will develop the above offering specific to that state.

	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Year 4	Year 5
Monthly price per user	$18.00	$18.00	$18.72	$19.28	$19.86

This offering provides online access at a predictable flat rate price for each participating agency. An 'eligible user' is defined as an individual who is employed by a government entity in a professional position and conducts research using the LexisNexis services on behalf of state or local government. For example, - although this is not a comprehensive list - attorneys, investigators, librarians, researchers, agents, analysts, commissioners and judges are considered 'professional' researchers/eligible users. LexisNexis will provide, at no extra charge, a reasonable number of IDs for support staff and para-professionals to facilitate research on behalf of a professional/eligible user. For example, if an agency has 5 attorneys, 1 investigator and 1 staff secretary, LexisNexis would consider that agency to have 6 eligible users and 1 support staff user. In that case, the price for the agency would be based on the 6 eligible users.
